

RATE BILL HAS A THORNY WAY

It Is Now Positive That It Will Be Sent Back
To The Conference Again.

NO NATIONAL DIVORCE LAWS FIXED

President Makes Several Appointments For Regular Army
Promotions--Other Washington News
Is Related.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., June 5.—The rate bill is having an uneasy time of it today. While there is still considerable doubt as to its possible outcome, it appears now to be almost certain that it will be returned to the conference for a longer consideration before a vote is again taken by the Senate upon it. Members of the conference have expressed this opinion this morning.

National Laws
The Senate this morning voted to indefinitely postpone the joint resolution providing for the amendment to the constitution which would permit congress to enact uniform laws for marriage and divorce. This measure has been most earnestly advocated and until the action of the Senate this morning seemed certain of passing the house.

Nominations
President Roosevelt today sent the following nominations to the Senate for confirmation: Colonels, to be brigadier generals, John McClellan, artillery corps, and Stephen P. Joselyn, Fourteenth Infantry; To be placed upon the retired list with rank of brigadier general, Col. Sedwick Pratt of the artillery corps.

Social Pleasures
The last vestige of the late war between Japan and Russia was swept away in this city this week when Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador to the United States, gave a dinner in honor of the first Japanese ambassador and Countess Aoki. While diplomatic relations between the countries were resumed at the conclusion of the peace pact at Portsmouth, N. H., last summer, the reception of Baron and Countess Aoki marked the resumption of social intercourse between the representatives of those nations.

Pension Bill
Through the untiring efforts of the United States Civil Service Retirement association a civil retirement bill has at last been completed and introduced in congress. The main object of the measure is to provide for the retirement of employees of the government in the classified civil service and to create a fund therefor at their own expense, to accomplish which five per cent of their salary is to be deducted monthly for the purpose of paying retirement annuities. This money will be held in the treasury of the United States. Under the bill retirements are to commence three years after the first deduction has been made, and all persons holding appointments in the civil service who shall reach seventy years of age shall be retired from service on an annual retirement pay equal to one-eighth of the average annual salary received during the last ten years of service for each year of service, but no person shall be paid more than $1,000 a year and all salaries in excess of $2,000 per annum shall be considered as $2,000 for all purposes of the act.

The Provisions
Those who are fifty years old or over at the time of the first deduction from salaries are to have cut off from their retired annual pay an amount equal to five per cent of such retired compensation. The bill further provides that if a person who reaches the age of seventy years is found by the head of a bureau of the government to possess expert ability and knowledge of the duties of the government, he shall be retained for a period of not more than five years, when he shall be retired. The maximum length of service as a basis for computing retirement pay is fixed at forty years, which precludes the payment to a retired employee of more than one-half of his regular salary. The retirement board is to consist of three persons appointed by the President.

Several hundred delegates are here and many more are expected to be on hand when the convention begins its real business tomorrow. The convention will continue three days.

quarters Is to Be Dedicated Tomorrow Morning.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New Haven, Conn., June 5.—The national convention of the Knights of Columbus was formally opened today in this city, which is the birthplace of the order. Many eminent priests and prelates of the Roman Catholic church were present in addition to the large number of delegates on hand from every section of the country. Preceding the call to order the delegates attended pontifical high mass at St. John's church. The sermon was preached by Rev. John J. McCoy of Worcester. Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore was one of the central figures. The convention will be in session through the remainder of the week. Tomorrow will be the most interesting day of the convention. The great parade will take place in the morning. In the afternoon the new building which is to be occupied as national headquarters of the order will be dedicated with much pomp and ceremony. Prominent among those who are to take part in the convention in addition to the noted churchmen are United States Senator Carter of Montana and Gearin of Oregon, and Justice Victor J. Dowling of the New York supreme court.

WISCONSIN WILL BE WELL REPRESENTED

Coach O'Dea Claims He Has Something Up His Sleeve for the Regatta.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., June 5.—Subscriptions to the Wisconsin university crew fund have been sufficiently gratifying to bring the final determination that the badger entry will row in the annual intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie this month. Coach O'Dea has with practical finality selected the crew, as follows:
Captain Burling, bow, 155 pounds; Johnson, number 2, 162; Wilder, 3, 166; Levisse, 4, 155; Davis, 5, 185; Ruth, 6, 160; Hine, 7, 160; Lee, stroke, 163; coxswain, Burk, 82. The average weight of the crew is 160 1/2 pounds. The finishing touches to the speeding-up and endurance part of the training are being given, and it is said that the crew this year is exceptionally fast, though not as speedy as the winning time of the race last year. Coach O'Dea will not make a prediction as to the result at Poughkeepsie other than that Wisconsin will make the others "go some" and "it is about time that our boys had a look in."

VAN HISE MENTIONED AS A POSSIBILITY

Wisconsin President Might Be Selected as Head of Institute at Washington.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., June 5.—President Charles R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, who is being mentioned among a few of the leading scientists of the country for the secretaryship of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, would doubtless refuse to accept that high honor even though it were available for him. He has only begun the carrying out of his plans for the advancement of the Wisconsin school, of which he has been president for three years, and he desires to remain here at least until his large extension program is well under way.

In coincidence with a recent eastern trip of President Van Hise it was intimated that he was being considered as a possible successor of the late Professor Langley as head of the Smithsonian institution, but although such an honor is considered by scientists as second to none in the country, it is said to be doubtful whether President Van Hise would give up his work here for the place.

Among others who are being considered for the Smithsonian secretaryship are Clinton Hart Merriam, chief of the United States Biological survey; Charles D. Wolcott, director of the United States Geological survey, and Henry F. Osborn, of the American Museum of Natural History, New York.

Before Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., June 5.—The fifty-seventh annual meeting of the American Medical Association was opened this morning in Mechanics' hall, with several thousand members from every section of the country in attendance. The proceedings of the opening session included the official reception and welcome of the association by President Eliot of Harvard University, President A. T. Cabot of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Governor Guild, speaking for the state, and Mayor Fitzgerald, in behalf of the city of Boston.

The meeting was called to order by retiring President Lewis S. Murry of Louisville, and Dr. Walter Wyman of Washington, D. C., first vice-president, responded to the speeches of welcome. The report of the committee on arrangements was followed by the introduction of President-elect Dr. William J. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., who delivered the annual address. The second general meeting takes place this evening. Dr. F. C. Shattuck of this city delivers the oration on "Medicine," and Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of New York that on surgery. At the third general meeting tomorrow evening the address on "State Medicine" will be delivered by Dr. W. H. Saunders of Montgomery, Ala. In addition to the general session today twelve sectional meetings devoted to various departments in the practice of medicine and surgery were held.

The gathering will be in session through the remainder of this week. Most of the convention energy will be given up to the meetings of the various sections. The program calls for over 400 papers, which are to be presented to the various sections. Many of them are technical and will not interest the general public, while other papers will deal with subjects of deep popular interest. The societies affiliated with the American Medical Association, and which are holding their meetings simultaneously, are the American Gastro-Enterological Association, Association of United States Pension Examining Surgeons, American Neurological Association, American Association of Life Insurance Examining Surgeons, American Urological Association and American Medical Editors' Association. A distinguishing feature of the present convention is the large number of eminent medical men in attendance from foreign countries. ## Literary Note.

In view of the International Conference so soon to convene again at The Hague, an especial interest attaches to an article in the June "Atlantic" on "The Future of Arbitration." Benjamin F. Trueblood, the Secretary of the American Peace Society, has some significant facts to point out in regard to the advances already made by this peaceful war on war. He musters his evidence convincingly. "Any one," he says, "who has carefully followed the arbitration movement during the decade since 1905 knows that it can no longer fairly be spoken of as an experiment. A government which will not try arbitration before resorting to arms is, in these days, scarcely considered respectable."

Mr. Trueblood looks to the future with equal assurance. "If it be true, as is generally believed, that reforms never go backward, it is altogether reasonable to assume, in these days of marvelous swiftness in all social movements, that the next twenty years will witness the practical completion of the arbitration movement. The perfecting of this system, whether it comes sooner or later, will inevitably see the end of war as a general institution recognized under international law."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years Dr. J. C. Science has proven entirely to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. ## NO ACCIDENTS IN NATURE.

Every Calamity. No Matter How Great, Has a Definite Beginning.

There are no accidents in nature. The avalanche that without a moment's warning rushes headlong down the mountain side is not an accident.

For years previous tiny atoms have been crystallizing, and adding their minute weight to the mass which left its base when the accumulation reached a certain point.

Neither is baldness an accident. The infinitesimally small germ which is the cause of Dandruff and Baldness, feeds silently and long before the result is seen.

The small germs which thrive on the scalp and which are the cause of Baldness and Dandruff cannot exist, however, when Newbro's Herpicide is applied.

WESTERN LANDS
AGAIN DISCUSSED

WHAT IRRIGATION IS DOING FOR IDAHO.

SHOW WONDERFUL RESULTS

Small Farms in Former Arid Regions Promise to Be Fertile Again.

There will be a rare day in June in Idaho, this year—a unique day—one without precedent. Uncle Sam expects to invite members of his numerous family from all parts of the country to an unusual event in the southern part of the state. He will offer for sale about 2,000 acres of land contained in three town sites situated in the heart of a great tract of 130,000 acres of rich and fertile agricultural land which will be watered by the Minidoka project, a great national irrigation work, costing $2,600,000. The town sites are all planned with wide streets and boulevards. The lots are to be disposed of to the highest bidders for cash. They look sufficiently desolate, and forlorn now, but with the opening of the canal headgates, they will bloom forth luxuriantly.

Small Farms.
Under the wise provision of the Reclamation Act all the agricultural lands have been cut into farms of 40 to 80 acres, so that the instant the lands are brought under cultivation this tract now covered with sage brush will become one of the most densely populated farming communities in the country. Its prosperity is assured by the splendid water supply furnished by the big government canals and ditches, and this prosperity is a guarantee of the future success and substantial growth of the towns which Uncle Sam proposes to foster there. The proceeds from the auction sales will be returned to the "irrigation fund."

Wonderful Scenes.
It requires a visit to this section to appreciate the wonderful transformation which follows the construction of one of these great irrigation projects of the government. Two years ago the Minidoka country was an uninhabited sage brush plain. The railroad was miles away from it, and it seemed destined forever to serve only as a haunt of the jack rabbit and the skulking coyote.

River Difficult to Harness.
Far below the plain, the Snake River cut its way through a canyon, the rugged escarpment rising above the swift flowing river, and offering no opportunity for the pioneer with his simple ditch to lead the water out upon the thirsty soil. Only skilled engineers backed by vast capital could cope with such a proposition as this. Many engineers without the necessary wherewithal had looked at it, but its great cost had forced them to give up. With the passage of the Reclamation Act on June 17, 1902, one of these engineers who had joined the government forces rushed a field party to this point and in a single season prepared and presented a set of plans for a comprehensive system of irrigation. They were accepted and bids were asked and contracts awarded for construction.

To irrigate this broad expanse of plain the Snake River must be lifted from its bed. A dam was laid across the stream at Minidoka Rapids, a great rock-fill structure 50 feet in height and 650 feet long on top, which raised the water surface 47 feet at flood level and backed it up for 35 miles. The dam completed will cost nearly half a million dollars. When the immense gates in the diversion channel are lifted the water will pass into the high line canals on both sides of the river, and be led from them through hundreds of miles of laterals to every farm in the valley.

Swift Influx of Settlers.
The initiation of this great work was followed by an influx of settlers from all over the country, and soon every farm division had been filed upon. While the government proceeded with its construction of the dam and its canal system, the settlers were busily engaged upon their own buildings. The coming of large numbers of settlers created a market, and storekeepers, doctors and mechanics of all classes flocked in. Today a population of 4,000 awaits the completion of the canals and ditches.

Already a Business Center.
Scattered here and there in and around the town sites are 122 mercantile institutions waiting for the town lot sale so that they can move over upon their own property and no longer remain tenants by sufferance of the government.

The irrigable lands of the Minidoka project are at an elevation of 4,200 feet above sea level. The maximum temperature of this section is 90 degrees, minimum, 12 degrees below zero, and mean 45 degrees; humidity 68 per cent. The rainfall varies from 15 to 19 inches per annum. The soil and climate are adapted to a wide variety of crops. Owing to the importance of the live stock industry in this section alfalfa and other forage crops will always find a profitable market. All the vegetables and fruits of the north temperate zone may be grown here.

With all these manifold advantages and resources it requires no particular gift of prophecy to predict for this section, a prosperous future and rapid growth. They will have a tremendous advantage over other new towns in the matter of cheap power. The great dam will develop ample power which can be transmitted economically to these towns and utilized for municipal and other purposes.

MORE GOOD BALL BY COLLEGE OF MILTON

Defeated Marquette in Close Game—Other News of Milton, Her College and People.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, June 5.—The closest game seen here this year was played Thursday between the local college team and Marquette college. Errors by Milton, with three hits, gave the visitors three runs in the second inning. The locals scored one in the third and Marquette got another. In the fourth Milton, on hits by Freeman and Hanley and a costly error by Fitzgerald, scored two. From the fourth to the sixth inning there was nothing doing for either side. Then in the half of the seventh Milton scored two on hits by McGowan and Cron and a double by Place, giving Milton the lead. Not to be outdone, however, Marquette tied the score in the first of the ninth in the last half, with two down. Place hit and Freeman reached first on a error. Johnson took transportation and the bases were full. Potter then laid down a bunt, and O'Brien threw wild to the plate in an effort to shut off Place. The ball struck the runner and crossed the plate with the winning run. Struck out by Devine, 4; by Place, 5; Umpire, S. J. Olson; of Whitecourt.

Why Eight-Day Malt Is Best

This Process Gets All of the Food Value of the Barley Into the Malt.

The usual four-day process of making malt for brewing may be compared to the unnatural rapid growth of grain planted in midsummer. It makes malt quickly, but at the sacrifice of the vital food quality of the grain.

Malt, as most of our readers probably know, is the life, the substance of beer, and the food value of any beer depends on the richness of the malt from which it is made.

Pabst exclusive eight-day malt is made in Nature's own way, to slow growth of the barley. All of the food value of the barley is thus retained in Pabst eight-day Malt, and makes Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the richest beer in food strength.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is always pure and clean. The choicest hops and chemically pure water are used with Pabst eight-day malt in the brewing. All the money in the world could not buy better, purer ingredients.

The entire Pabst process is famous among physicians and scientists for its positive cleanliness. From the mashing of the eight-day malt until the finished products are poured into your glass Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer never comes in contact with anything that is not absolutely clean.

It is fermented in sealed tanks into which no impurity can enter. It is run through sterilized tubes and pipes, stored for months in sterilized hermetically sealed storage tanks and pasteurized after being bottled.

This exclusive process places Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer beyond the possibility of contamination. It comes to you perfect in age, purity and strength, the best beer brewed.

NEW TRIAL OF CASE AGAINST RAILROAD

Suit of Mrs. Margaret McComb Against the C. M. &amp; St. Paul Company to Be Reheard.

Judge Dunwiddie has signed an order setting aside the verdict obtained by Margaret McComb against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, and granted a new trial. It will be remembered that this case was tried to a jury in the circuit court, March 21, last, and a verdict rendered in favor of the plaintiff, for $425. It was claimed by Mrs. McComb that on the 27th of May, 1905, about the hour of seven o'clock in the evening, as she was crossing the railway tracks at the intersection of West Bluff and Academy streets, in this city, pushing a baby cab in which her child was seated, a locomotive belonging to the defendant, and which was moving along one of its tracks, struck one of the wheels of the baby cab, bending it. She claimed also that in pulling the baby cab off the track she wrenched herself in some way, and that the fright which she sustained resulted in severe nervous shock and physical injury. She demanded judgment against the defendant for the sum of $500 together with her costs, the $10 claimed being for injuries to the baby cab. The railway company claimed that its servants and employees were not negligent, that the injury, if any, sustained by Mrs. McComb, was due to her own negligence; that when she arrived at a point about twenty-five feet from the tracks, she had a clear view up and down the tracks for at least three hundred feet; that she did not stop, look and listen; that the engine that struck the baby cab was moving at a very slow rate of speed, stopping almost instantly after impact with the cab wheel. Many witnesses were examined on both sides of the case. Mrs. McComb testified in her own behalf that for several months after the accident she was unable to sleep; that her spine and eyesight became affected and her nervous system shattered. She stated that although before the accident she was a strong healthy woman, she became weak physically and so nervous that the slightest noise caused her great mental distress and pain. On the trial and on the motion to set aside the verdict, Pierce & Fisher appeared for Mrs. McComb, and Thos. S. Nolan for the railway company. It is probable that the action will be tried again at the next jury term of the circuit court of this county, which begins the third Monday in November.

CROWD DRENCHED
IN TERRIFIC STORM

Dismay and Confusion Reigned at Circus Grounds When Performance Closed Last Evening.

Yesterday afternoon the Chief Hale fire-fighter performance and circus attracted a fair-sized audience to the grounds in Springs, Brook. There were few expert performers and the show failed to produce any thrills worth mentioning. Those who existed and lingered on the scene last evening, however, met with an experience which they will not soon forget. The side-show had already given two exhibitions and had bookwinked a half a hundred men and boys into paying an extra two bits to see an oriental dance in some special apartments in the rear of the tent, before the "big show" got under way. It was near nine o'clock when the fire engines and canvas scenery came into play in the main tent, and about that time one of the three or four terrific rain storms which were to be seen on Janesville in the course of a very few hours, began to get ready for action. Wise ones who saw the ominous clouds hurried home but there were about a hundred who remained to see the thing through. The rain was falling in sheets when the performance closed and the circus men began to tear down the canvas grandstand, surrounding the "arena," which offered the only shelter in sight. No street cars were waiting and when one presently came along, bound for the barn, the motormen stolidly refused to heed the frantic gesticulations and cries of women who were being drenched to the skin, and pushed right on for his destination. Off to the west an interurban car, which might have taken two-thirds of the crowd to the city, stopped only to take aboard the swift-footed who had reached the crossing and refused to wait for the mud-bespattered, rain-soaked company which had started to hurry in that direction. Some of the women succeeded in finding shelter for a time in one or two of the neighboring houses and a few were able to protect new hats and bonnets until they could get them under a roof. Here and there some gallant swain took off his coat and wrapped it about the shivering lady at his side, nearly carrying her as they ran splashing through the pools that had formed on the highway to reach the residence section on the main streets.

CIGAR TALKS.

How Can Smith Drug Co. Sell as Good a Cigar as the Chico for 5c.

"You want me to talk about cigars?" said Mr. Smith of Smith Drug Co. to a Gazette reporter.

"I think the better way is to let our cigars talk for themselves," he continued. "There is one cigar in our case, the Wadsworth Brand, Chico, which is doing a lot of talking, even shouting. I consider myself fortunate in getting the agency for it, as it is in reality equal to any 10c cigar, and it costs only 5c."

"You see we buy it direct from the maker, and the middleman does not get any profit. At any rate, it is becoming the best seller in our case, and people who heretofore would have nothing but a 10c or even 15c cigar, ask for a Chico and say they like it. Better try one yourself and see how good it is."

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, June 5, 1866.—Crop Prospects.—Commissioner Newport states, in his monthly report for April just issued, that owing to the backwardness of the season it is impossible to pronounce intelligently upon the condition of growing crops. The accounts received from wheat, however, he says, are very discouraging, indicating a short crop all over the country. He advises our farmers to give increased attention to the raising of horses and cattle, inasmuch as the great scarcity of live stock at the South will insure profitable prices for a long time to come.

Another Glorious Rain.—This section of the country was this morning visited by another refreshing shower. It was of short duration, but did a world of good.

At It.—The Bridge Committee are engaged in the work of laying down the new plank today, on Milwaukee street bridge. If the floor of the structure is not leveled up it cannot fail to give strangers, at least, an idea that the whole corporation is on a "weaving way." Should it be left in its present shape, with all its up and downs, it will be difficult for a man crossing it to realize whether he is drunk or sober.

Serious Accident.—A daughter of A. P. Van Vranken, aged six years, of the town of Center, fell from a fence yesterday afternoon striking on a hay knife and completely severing her right chest, the blade entering just forward under the arm passing through and coming out at the center of the sternum or breast bone. Dr. Judd was called, who dressed the wound, and hopes are entertained of her recovery. As the Dr. was returning home, it being very dark, he ran off a bridge and was thrown from his carriage and is badly bruised and unable to leave his bed this morning, but we trust his injuries are not serious.

THERE'S A REASON.

While we are all like sheep in a certain sense, in following each other, yet when it comes to selecting a doctor or a dentist or the spending of our money, we do not act without having a well-defined REASON for our actions.

This is why Dr. Richards has built up such a splendid dental practice. He furnishes a REASON for your selecting him to do your work.

A lady was just in to consult him this morning and she said, "You made my mother's teeth a year ago and she is delighted with them."

"You have worked for a number of my friends and they all said for me to come to YOU for my dentistry."

So she had well-defined REASONS for her choice of a dentist.

To sum it up:

He gives you splendid work.

He hurts you LESS than any dentist that ever looked in your mouth.

He has a HEART when he comes to hand your teeth.

He goes to the limit to PLEASE you.

Now, in view of such facts does it not strike you that such a workman is just the man whom you wish to look after your teeth?

PITCHED FROM A CHAIR AND DIED

TIMOTHY VAN TYLE SUDDENLY PASSED AWAY TODAY.

AT THE RAILROAD HOTEL

Was a Retired Farmer and Veteran of the Civil War—Leaves Brother in Pennsylvania.

As he was sitting in an office chair at the Railroad Hotel, shortly before eight o'clock this morning, Timothy Van Tyle suddenly fell heavily forward and with a few gasps breathed his last before any assistance could reach him. Adam Holt, the proprietor of the hotel, and John Gooden, an employee, who were in the next room, heard him fall and rushed to him. They found him supposedly unconscious and sent for a doctor. A closer examination showed the man was dead and Marshal Appleby was summoned. He took charge of the deceased's possessions and the remains were removed to Kimball's morgue. But slightly ill.

Mr. Van Tyle's death was entirely unexpected. He complained of a slight illness Sunday evening and retired early. Yesterday morning he failed to rise at the usual time and a doctor was called. Mr. Van Tyle was prescribed for, but it was not thought that his condition was serious. This morning he dressed and came down to breakfast. After the meal he went to the office and had been there but a short time when death came.

Well Known in County. The deceased was a well-known resident of the county. He was seventy-four years of age and a veteran of the civil war, for many years owned and worked a farm south of the city, but since retiring he had made his home at the Railroad Hotel. This winter he spent at Elgin, Pa. visiting his brother. This is the only relative he leaves, his wife having passed away some years ago. Charles Rice, living south of the city, is a cousin of the late Mrs. Van Tyle.

NEW FACTORY IN THE COMMUNITY

VICTOR CONCRETE MIXING MACHINES BEING MADE HERE.

AT TAYLOR & LOWELL SHOP

Machine Is Vast Improvement Over Hand Labor Method and is Being Generally Adopted.

The building on the northern edge of the city near Knapp's brewery, formerly used by the Taylor and Lowell Manufacturing Company is now being occupied by the Victor Concrete Manufacturing Company. This concern is making a machine for mixing concrete and another for the manufacture of posts. The machine for the mixing of sand and cement is called the Victor Concrete Mixer, and enables a large part of the work formerly done by hand in the cement stone factories to be done by power, hence saving time and labor. The former way of mixing the material with a hoe was a slow and not entirely satisfactory process, but by the aid of this machine the work can be done faster and in a very much better manner.

Revolutionizing Industry.

It is necessary in making the cement stone to have the materials well mixed, if they are not the stone is not solid and liable to break. This machine enables the operator to mix just the right amount of each material and at the same time adding the right amount of water. It is run by an electric motor or a gasoline engine, thus doing away with the big expense of running an engine where a small amount of power is necessary, as in a cement brick factory.

Being Used Generally.

These machines are already being used by the factories in this city. The Silica Brick and Stone Company have just ordered one and it is now being made at that factory.

The Rock County Concrete Stone Company has had one in their plant for some time and has found it up to their expectations. Another machine is being made for the Waukesha Concrete Block and Material Company and two will soon be sent to Milwaukee to be used in the large cement stone factories in that city.

At present the company is not running full capacity, but expects to by fall. During the winter a stock of machines for the spring orders will be made. The Victor people have several plants around the country for the manufacture of these machines.

REFUSES TO PROBE INTO DRUG TRUST

PRESIDENT LEAVES MATTER TO ATTORNEY GENERAL.

SQUARE DEAL IS REQUESTED

Retailers Say They Have Not Been Fairly Treated by Federal Officials in That Hearings Were Denied.

Washington, June 5.—President Roosevelt has declined to entertain any proposition looking to further investigation into the methods of the alleged trust before the proceedings recently instituted at Indianapolis by the attorney general are pushed. Following interviews with him by representatives of the National Association of Retail Druggists, at which Mr. Purdy, assistant attorney general, was present, the president has concluded that he will not interfere, but leave the whole matter in the hands of the department of justice for such further action as the attorney general may see fit to take.

It was stated at the department that the investigation has been going on for several months, and that the department is entirely satisfied with the evidence which has been secured and that the prosecution would be conducted without delay.

Say Promises Were Violated.

In a memorial to the president the retailers allege that they have not been given the "square deal." It is asserted that about a year ago, when the Loder suit in Philadelphia was under way, counsel for the retailers interviewed the United States attorney at Chicago and afforded him every opportunity to investigate the methods of the association which, they stated, were an open book. It is alleged that the district attorney thereupon stated that no proceeding would be had without a full preliminary hearing. The retailers deny that they were a party in any way to the Loder suit. The interview with the district attorney, it is added, was followed by others with Mr. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, and Assistant Attorney General Day, during which the fact was stated that if the association was in any manner violating the law it would be glad to modify its methods. It is claimed in the memorial that in this instance, as in the case of the district attorney at Chicago, assurance was given that the association should have ample notice of any proceeding.

FEW AUSTRALIANS HERE.

One Part of the World Which Sends Few People to the United States.

There are only a few Australians distributed throughout the United States, and their number is so small that in most of the official bulletins they come under the head of "unclassified."

There are in New York, says the Sun, less than 500 Australians, and the majority of these are such "in name only," having been born in Australia during the temporary residence of their parents. One such case is that of Miss Melba, the prima donna, who was born in Melbourne, Australia, in 1866, though her home is in England.

The only city in the country in which there is any considerable number of Australians is San Francisco, in which there are about 1,000. Chicago has some 200, and Oakland, a suburb of San Francisco, 250. Once every year the Australians, in New York city assemble for fraternal meetings, and it is found usually that the larger number of those present are traveling Australians.

The small girl is in the ascendant. Outshone in the athletic field, and eclipsed in public gatherings by her tall and queenly sister, she is victor in matrimony, and entertains in her own house for her superbly tall bachelor friend.

FROGS LABELED AS FRUIT.

Guests at Chinese Dinners Must Not Scrutinize Delicacies Too Closely.

Sons of the west, who attend dinners given by the Chinese minister in London will be well advised not to seek explanations as to the genesis of their dishes too diligently. In a Chinese dish there is no saying where mystery begins and ends, says a writer in Sketch.

A sample, rich and rare, was sent some time ago to the present writer. Upon one side of the vessel was a legend in what must have been irreproachable Chinese; upon the other this translation:

"These fruits were packed in the vicinity of our orchards, under our personal supervision. Every possible care has been taken for their freshness and maturity. We guaranteed that our fruits retain their natural flavor and are of the finest quality."

Those "fruits" so fine and matured, retaining all their natural flavor, proved to be very "gamey" frogs embedded in what seemed rancid goose grease!

Public Opinion Against Him.

Cyclist—Why?

"Well, yer see, the owner was coming down the road behind me, and the policeman had a rope stretched across in front."—Stray Stories.

JOHN C. NEW DEAD OF DROPSY

HAD HELD MANY POSITIONS OF HONOR AND TRUST.

Was United States Treasurer, Assistant Secretary of Treasury and Consul General to London.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—John C. New died Monday afternoon at 5:10 of dropsy. Around his bedside were his wife, his son, Harry S. New, vice chairman of the national Republican committee, and his daughter, Mrs. Ernest M. Burford, of this city. Another daughter, Mrs. W. R. McKean, Jr., is en route here from her home at Omaha, Neb.

Mr. New had been sick for nearly a year. He was born in 1831 at Vernon, Ind. He was educated at Bethany college, Va., and studied law in the office of former Gov. Wallace, of Indiana. He served a term as clerk of Marion county and was appointed by Gov. Oliver P. Morton, Indiana's war governor, quartermaster general during the civil war. He served a term in the state senate and entered the banking business. In 1875 President Grant appointed him United States treasurer, which position he resigned the following year when he bought the Indianapolis Journal, of which he was proprietor for many years. He was chairman of the Indiana Republican committee during the campaign of 1876, and in 1882 President Arthur appointed him assistant secretary of the treasury. At this time he transferred his interests in the Indianapolis Journal to his son, Harry S. New, now vice chairman of the Republican national committee. Mr. New was prominent in the Republican national convention at Minneapolis in 1892 which renominated Gen. Harrison for the presidency. Mr. New devoted the last ten years of his life to his property interests in this city.

There have been white men attacked by leprosy, and several suspicious cases among them are under surveillance. It is estimated that there are more than sixty among the natives scattered over the isthmus.

Some of the best and proudest families on the isthmus are known to be afflicted with it. There are not many such instances, the better class of Panamanians being remarkably clean skinned and healthy. The American doctors dread the day when such cases must be dealt with by removal to a leper camp. The order for a close inspection of all natives and a report of every case discovered has gone out from sanitary headquarters. Any guess of the number that will be found would be wild, but it is estimated by one of the inspectors that there are fully sixty.

Quarters for the unfortunate at Miraflores are necessarily crude and far from what they should be. This is in a measure offset by the care given them, which a visit to the camp shows is intelligent and humane. The wards of the violent patients were unwisely built near the station, so close to the railroad tracks that their gestures can be seen through the bars of their cells and their wild cries heard by passengers, some of whom bait them, often driving them into fury by their remarks.

Mrs. Fannie D. Fox, of 7 Chestnut Street, Bradford, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham

"I suffered for a long time with female trouble, and finally was told by my physician that I had a tumor. I did not want to submit to an operation, so wrote you for advice. I received your letter and did as you told me, and to-day I am completely cured. My doctor says the tumor has disappeared, and I am once more a well woman. I believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine in the world."

Picked Up For Dead

A Woman's Remarkable Escape In an Automobile Accident.

Locomotive Struck Touring Car
and She Was Hurled Thirty Feet Through the Air.
An Awful Crash.

"I am thankful that I live."

This was the grateful expression uttered by Mrs. Willard C. Fisk, wife of Major Fisk, a wealthy lawyer of Jersey City, N. J. She was grateful, although she was lying in bed with broken bones.

A touring car in which she was riding was demolished by the engine of a freight train at the Iselin (N. J.) crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad and hurled thirty feet to the side of the roadbed. She was picked up for dead, but her physician said she would live.

THEY WERE HURLED INTO THE AIR TOGETHER.

In the automobile with her when the car came to a full stop in the path of the onrushing train were her husband, Major Fisk; her son, Clinton E. Fisk, and the chauffeur, George E. Blakeslee. The latter was injured slightly. He was endeavoring to lift Mrs. Fisk from the touring car when the engine crashed into it. They were hurled into the air together, the woman in her desperation clinging to the chauffeur. Major Fisk and his son were not injured.

Mrs. Fisk was picked up unconscious and removed to Cooper's inn near by. Dr. Ellis was summoned from Metuchen. He found that her right arm and left leg were broken. When the bones were set she was taken aboard a Pennsylvania train and later removed to her home in Jersey City.

Major Fisk, with his wife and son, had been spending several weeks at Atlantic City and while there he had ordered the touring car, which he had just purchased, sent to his Jersey City home. A mistake was made and the car was sent to Philadelphia.

Instead of ordering it reshipped, Major Fisk decided to ride the car to his home. It was 1 o'clock in the morning when the Iselin crossing was reached. There is a sharp turn in the road, and a dense growth of trees hides the railroad tracks. Major Fisk saw the headlight of the engine that was bearing down toward them.

"Jump, for God's sake, jump!" he shouted.

He was riding alongside the chauffeur. His son and his wife were in the rear seats.

Blakeslee applied the emergency brake and jumped. Major Fisk and his son had also jumped. Mrs. Fisk had been sleeping and, too dazed to understand, remained in her seat. The car had stopped just over the rail, and an effort was made to run it back, but with the emergency brake applied that was impossible.

Blakeslee, seeing that the collision was inevitable, jumped on one side of the automobile and was endeavoring to lift Mrs. Fisk from the car when the engine crashed into it, hurling the machine aside.

"It is the greatest wonder that we were not all killed," said Major Fisk. "The railroad trucks at the crossing are obscured by freight cars and trees on both sides. The emergency brake was applied just a moment too late and the front of our car stood over the rail. We jumped out and tried to run the car back. Then the crash came. Although Mrs. Fisk was seriously injured, she will recover."

At Breakfast.

"I understand," said the landlady as she was serving the hash, "that the widow and widower who have been living in the boarding house across the way were recently married."

"Sort of secondhand affair," remarked the fat boarder as he helped himself to another dish of prunes.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

"BUILD," ONLY ORDER

Former Kansas Citizen Tells of Conditions In Frisco.

COURAGE OF PEOPLE ADMIRABLE

Spirit of '40 Revived In the Rush to Restore the Stricken City—Former Millionaire, Over Eighty Years Old, Trudges Daily Over California Hills on His Way to and From His Home.

Charles F. O'Brien, a former Kansas City (Mo.) newspaper man, now in the real estate business in San Francisco, writes to a friend at Kansas City as follows about conditions in the stricken city, says the Kansas City Star:

"My office is now the kitchen of a six room flat. I have a camp stool and am the envy of many other people. In order that the camp stool may be with me tomorrow I shall fold it and carry it with me across the bay."

"We are certainly doing business under difficulties, but we are doing it. San Francisco has resumed with a rush. Contracts for steel buildings are being let every day. This office, on Fillmore street, is the very center of the new activity. We have yet to find a large owner who wants to sell at any price. The order is unvaryingly, 'Build.' All that may delay us now is lack of material—steel. Lumber, cement, brick, sand and stone we have in limitless quantities. Steel we must have, and the east must supply it. With plenty of material we shall accomplish more in eighteen months than the world expects of us in five years."

"The spirit of the people is amazing and their courage a thing to evoke the profound admiration of the world. We realize as we gaze at the miles of splendid ruins that we have ahead of us a stupendous task, but we have discarded superfluous things, including fine furniture, and have buckled to the work with the ardor that made the world stand still a moment to applaud the forty-niner. This is '40 again in many ways, and we find that many of our well fed millionaires have been concealing under their coats a physical energy that equals anything of which '40 could boast."

"If you could see Daniel Meyer, banker, and before this calamity ten times a millionaire and eighty-two years old, trudging up over the California hills every day on his way to and from his home, just as if horses were extinct and street cars unknown, you would in a measure appreciate the splendid spirit in which these people are enduring this great trial. Mr. Meyer is no exception to the rule. Other bankers, other millionaires, other merchant princes, are doing their ten to fifteen miles a day over rough cobblestone without a murmur. My daily exercise is from the ferry to Fillmore, and Fillmore to the ferry, in addition to the miles of walking rendered necessary by the yet very incomplete street car service, a matter of about twenty miles a day. And, behold, my physical ailments have vanished."

"The homeless are now fairly comfortable, and, as you know, this climate has few rigors. There is apparently an ample supply of tentage and bedding. But food supplies are needed and will be for some time. About 100,000 people, perhaps more, who lost their all, are being housed and fed. This work is in the hands of a special relief committee with ex-Mayor James D. Phelan at the head. There isn't a man, woman or child in San Francisco who wouldn't trust his or her last dollar to Jimmie Phelan. Every dollar entrusted to him will be expended properly and accurately accounted for. Though himself a very rich man, he lost heavily by the fire."

"Phelan has given every moment to relief work since the first day of this calamity. He didn't even turn a hair when informed that his big Market street building was being dynamited."

"With such a man at the head of affairs the generous of other states may be assured that their charity will not be misapplied. The committee is discriminating to the extent of refusing aid to able-bodied men. Both women and children must be cared for until normal conditions ensue, perhaps several months. Thus food supplies must continue to come or great suffering will follow."

"We want the world to know this and also to know that where possible it is better to place the actual cash in the hands of the committee here, so that the supplies most needed may be purchased and there may be no excess of one commodity or shortage of another. Where desired and where subscriptions are large, we suggest that a representative be sent here to satisfy the givers that proper and economical use is being made of all subscriptions."

Latest Flying Machine.
M. Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian aeronaut, is having built an aeroplane as well as a flying machine. The former will be a sort of an arrow, nearly fifty feet long, having a head twenty-six feet broad at the base, says London Tit-Bits. On the shaft will be fixed two silk wings, having a total surface of 230 square feet, stretched on a bamboo frame and curving slightly downward at the sides. The passenger will be seated in a basket beneath the double wings, below which will also be a twenty-four horsepower motor working two propellers, each six and one-half feet in diameter. Finally an articulate tail will act as rudder.

FUND TO AID STRIKERS

Big Insurance Scheme From Which It Will Be Derived.

CHIEFLY TO AID MEN ON STRIKE

Unique Plan Outlined In Convention of Telegraphers by Daniel Russell
Includes Every American Labor Union In Its Scope—It Has the Indorsement of Samuel Gompers.

At a recent session in Cincinnati of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America a matter was proposed that is the first step toward the carrying out of a tremendous enterprise, but intended to be for the benefit of all classes of union labor in the United States, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. The plan is a comprehensive one and involves millions of money in the end, that will be used for the support not only of widows and orphans of union men, but also for their aid in strikes or when out of work because of disabilities.

The scheme was evolved by Daniel Russell of the New York Union of Telegraphers. Mr. Russell submitted his plan to President Gompers of the Federation of Labor, and the latter thought so well of it that he asked Mr. Russell to present the matter to the Commercial Telegraphers' union at its session in Cincinnati and request them to take the first step toward carrying it into effect.

Basing his idea upon the fact that the recent exposures of insurance frauds had shown that capital of the great insurance companies is sometimes furnished to large concerns that employ workmen to tide them over difficulties when there has been a strike, thus aiding the employers against unions; that there is little for the workman in one of the large insurance companies because they necessarily hold small policies and cannot get the benefits that the large policy holders do; that from the workmen comes, in the first instance, the money with which the large policy holders pay their huge premiums and that because of these things it has become necessary for labor to fortify itself against capital, he evolved the plan of an insurance company to be conducted by the unions of all classes of labor.

His idea is that it is necessary for the unions to educate their members into the business gradually. To do this each branch of labor must form an insurance adjunct to its union. After they have all got to running nicely the funds of all are to be merged into one gigantic corporation, the combined funds to be invested in such manner as to bring an increase sufficient to carry out the objects intended. These are the things that shall be provided from income a fund for sick benefits, one for death benefits, one for men, out of work and, the chief one, to assist men when on strike. As the idea has been worked out theoretically it is the intention to have the last mentioned fund so large that when there is a strike there shall be paid to the strikers a certain proportion of the wages they received while at work, say one-half, and thus assist the men to carry out their fight without entailing hardships on them and their families. It is not the intention, however, to make the pay to the strikers of such an amount as to make it an inducement to strike.

The further purpose is to make the combined insurance company of the workmen of such proportions that there will be no question but that it can carry out the ideas intended and thus be able to strike a blow at capital when necessary that will be felt and at the same time have a weapon that capital will be apt to respect and think about before it refuses to at least hear and consider the demands that may be made by union men when these demands are reasonable. Mr. Russell said he believed the plan could be carried out, not in a short time, of course, but that several years would be required to carry the plan into effect.

As has been said, the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was selected by Mr. Gompers to take the first step in this plan, and it was done by the proposing of an amendment to the constitution whereby an insurance branch will be added to it. This will be taken up by a committee and eventually will go to all the subordinate bodies to be acted upon.

The idea was received with favor at the meeting, and Mr. Russell was complimented by many of the members for working it out. The committee appointed will consider the subject and make a report.

A Long Fence For Sheep Pasture.
F. S. Pearson recently completed the purchase of 4,000 acres of land in the towns of Great Barrington, Afton and Monterey, Mass., and Austerlitz, N. Y., says a Great Barrington correspondent of the Boston Herald. The property will be enclosed with a wire fence twelve miles long and seven feet high closely meshed to keep out dogs. Mr. Pearson has bought 5,000 high grade Shropshire and Dorset sheep in England and has engaged Scotch shepherds.

"Mrs. Roosevelt's Spice Cake."
Paul Fagan of Meriden, Conn., fourteen years old, wrote a note to Mrs. Roosevelt, wife of the president, the other day asking her to send him her favorite recipe; says a Meriden special to the New York World. He recently received, on official stationery, a recipe marked, "Mrs. Roosevelt's Spice Cake." This recipe will occupy the place of honor in a cookbook which the lad is getting up to sell at Meriden's coming centennial celebration.

New Art.
"I tell you," said the tall man with the curly whiskers, "the Chinese are getting wiser every day."
"I should say they are," replied the short man in the green suspenders. "Why, my laundryman has actually taken up pyrography."
"You don't mean it?"
"Yes, his specialty now is burning designs on shirts."—Chicago Daily News.

Buns Losing Favor.
Only 5,000,000 "hot-cross buns" were consumed in London on Good Friday, indicating the dying out of the custom. The cross-bun is the modern equivalent of the cakes eaten in honor of the Saxon goddess Eostre, from whose name the word Easter comes. Her worshippers became Christians, but, unwilling to give up the buns, compromised by making them with a cross.
